

11th Annual Kevin J. Mullin Memorial 5K Run/Walk

Sixteen year old Kevin Mullin's life changed dramatically on December 14, 2000 when he was diagnosed with a malignant brain tumor. From that day on, Kevin showed a tremendous amount of courage and hope that he would beat this disease. He compared this challenge to the most important cross country race of his life. He was not going to let this disease beat him. Although Kevin lost his battle with the brain tumor on August 9, 2001, he never gave up hope for a cure.

It is because of Kevin's hope for a cure that the Annual Kevin J. Mullin Memorial 5K Run/Walk was begun in April of 2002. Kevin's family wishes to keep Kevin's infinite hope and courage alive by raising funds for research so that someday a cure will be found so that no other children or adults will have to face such a devastating disease. Thus far Kevin's run has raised over $220,000 for brain tumor research. Kevin's family wishes to continue this effort and continue to raise funds and awareness of this disease

"Hope is a good thing, maybe the best of things, and good things never die."

Brain Tumor Facts

Brain tumors affect people of all ages, from infants to the elderly.

Brain tumors are the most deadly of childhood cancers and the leading cause of solid tumor death in children under the age of 19.

The average survival time after diagnosis of an aggressive malignant brain tumor is 18 months.

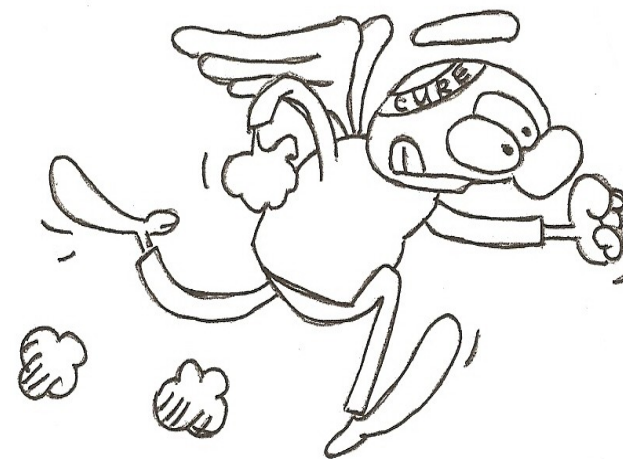

Every day 500 people are diagnosed with a brain tumor and join nearly 600,000 who are living with this devastating diagnosis.

Recent information indicates that pediatric brain tumors are rising faster than any other pediatric cancer.

Brain tumors are the 3rd leading cause of cancer related deaths in people age 20-39.

Brain tumors are difficult to remove because you cannot remove surrounding tissue without damage to the rest of the brain.
